

Press Release

October 25, 2012

World famous artworks fly Air France-KLM-Martinair Cargo

The Dutch Rijksmuseum is starting its global campaign for the Grand Opening on 13 April 2013 with an international tour of one of its masterpieces, "Woman Reading a Letter".

KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, the Rijksmuseum's partner in transport, is taking care of the transport of this famous Johannes Vermeer painting to Shanghai, the Museum de Arte in São Paulo, Brazil, and the J. Paul Getty Museum in Los Angeles. In Shanghai, the Vermeer will grace the opening of the new China Art Museum in the exhibition "Congratulations from the world", in which museums from all over the world will be participating. At the grand opening "Woman Reading a Letter" will be on show again in the Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam.

With a dedicated team for its art customers, Air France-KLM-Martinair Cargo handles and transports artworks with the highest level of care and security.

The "Woman Reading a Letter" will travel around the world in the good hands of Air France-KLM-Martinair Cargo in order to be back for the Grand Opening of the Rijksmuseum in perfect shape.

For more information

Contact AF-KL-MP Cargo Press Relations, Jean Claude Raynaud, tel. +33 – (0) 1 7437 9166.